FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY AT 31 OCT 2023

The month ended on a historic note as South Africans applauded the stellar defence displayed by the Springboks on their path to an unprecedented fourth Rugby World Cup title. While the resilience of our beloved team shone through, the same cannot be said about global asset classes, which produced negative results across the board. In the US, equities took a tumble and are now flirting with the dreaded "correction territory". Most of the blame can be laid at the door of the US 10-year Treasury yield flirting with 5%, coupled with the "Magnificent Seven" tech giants serving up some mixed earnings reports. Those tech titans, whilst heroes in the past, turned into the villains of October, pushing the S&P 500 and the NASDAQ 100 down by 2.1% and 2.0% MoM, respectively. Across the pond, the story was not much brighter as interest rates, sluggish growth, and geopolitical drama continued to cast shadows over markets. In local currency terms, the Euro STOXX 50 declined by 2.6%, whilst the FTSE 100 fell by 3.7% for the month. Japanese equities also sold off over the month, with the Nikkei 225 Index declining by 3.1%. Market sentiment in Japan was adversely affected by rising bond yields, fluctuations in currency markets, and heightened geopolitical tensions. Locally, the story was much the same, with the FTSE/JSE All Share Index declining by 3.4%. The performance was predominantly impacted by the industrial and resources sectors, down 4.6% and 4.3%, respectively, for the month. The portfolio performed broadly in line with peers for October. The performance was enhanced by our overweight exposure to local bonds, which negated some of the losses seen in the overall equity positions.
